BILGEWATER ACCUMULATING.-There was no session of the Police Court Monday morning, it being Christmas day, nor yes terday. Judge Abbey will hear cases to-day. We may expect a flooded docket, as there has been no court since Friday last. Five days in a city like this is a sufficiently long time for a frightful amount of soummy, greasy water to accumulate in the cesspools of the city prison. And it will re quire ne microscope to reveal the disgust-ing forms of life wriggling and fighting therein. How CHRISTMAS PASSED OFF .- The police say that Christmas was celebrated and spent n a very quiet manner throughout the city. Their statement may be accepted. The accustomed, appropriate services were held in the morning, in the Episcopal and Catholic churches. All day long men, women and children crowded the streets, sight-seeing, promenading, enjoying the bland sir, the genial sunshine, and hunting after Christmas. The young folks looked as if they had, that morning, unloaded stockings, every one of which was like the old cornucopia for fullness and blessings. Places of business were generally clesed, the public schools litto, and the day was essentially and manifestly a holiday.

Notwithstanding the report of the police, a few parties came around to the station legical developments, peeled faces, &c., from the fists and claws of wretches who had legical developments, peeled faces, &c., from the firsts and claws of wretches who had gone back on them. But in a city of sixty thousand people, it can hardly be expected that every one will be animated, even in a distant way and on Christmas, with the sentiment and spirit of Him whose nativity makes the 25th of December an almost universal heliday and day of cheer and rejoicing throughout Christendom.
